

CHANGE OF COMMAND

Being the flagship of Coast Guard Squadron Three was an honor, but it also entailed disadvantages. It meant always being a little whiter and a little cleaner than the other cutters. It also meant an extra stop at Subic Bay where we hosted the change of command ceremonies for the Commodore. It took Captain Frick only an hour to relieve Captain Day on our fantail, but it took us hundreds of man hours to prepare for the onslaught of Admirals and Captains that witnessed the occasion.
