

"SHIPBOARD LIFE"

So far in this book, we've mentioned the many ports which we've had the good fortune to visit on this cruise. What we haven't really covered is what we, the crew, do while we're underway at sea. This is especially important as this is what takes up three-fourths of the time on patrol. Some of the many and varied duties of the men are . . .

Steve Crum and Bill Masten, hammering their typewriters in the Ship's Office.

Glenn Lambert and Charles Cooper standing watch in Radio Central.

Officer of the Deck!
Don Shinpaugh checks our speed.
