

Two Trolls.

A tour through the 18th century wooden icebreaker "Fram" was held for the crew.

Points of interest included the FRAM, a wooden icebreaker built in the 1800's, and the famed KON-TIKI. Most of the crew took time to visit Frogner Park, and a few ventured up into the hills for a closer look at the ski jump, which will be the site for the 1966 Winter Olympics. Many of the crew found the prices to their liking on items such as skiing equipment, tape recorders, sweaters, and of course, trolls. We departed Oslo on October 10th and at long last were homeward bound.

Frogner Park.

Bob Lindsay poses in front of some of the unique statues at Frogner Park.

