

IMPERIVM NEPTVNI REGIS

A call came from out of nowhere: Hove too, prepare to be boarded by Davey Jones, King Neptune and his Royal Court. The sound of pirates could be heard rousting all polywogs. The King and Court ordered the wogs to the foçsle to await their trial by the Court of the Seven Seas. As the honored tradition of the crossing of the Equator and or anticipation of entering the Realm of Antarctica all polywogs must be initiated to insure safe passage by his Royal King Neptune. As always it was both fun for shellbacks and polywogs as the PFR (polywog revolutionary front) succeeded to raise havoc the night before. The day of the initiation all willing polywogs (and some not so willing) were taken before the Judge found guilty of their crimes, given to the King for punishment. After all was over and cleaned up, the crew gathered for a picnic and laughed over the day's fun.
