We are sometimes found in our native habitats, compartments A-0201 and A-0202 better known as the bridge and chart room. One of us however, may also be found on the signal bridge, exercising freedom of speech on the "flashing light", semaphore, and an occasional flag hoist.

Our primary function is keeping a watchful eye on the officers, especially in rough seas, and maintaining the bridge area. Our janitorial duties include making the bridge as homey and warm as possible. Our secondary function is navigation and maintaining the ship's log.
