

UNDERWAY REPLENISHMENT.

UNREP - the Navy's answer to spare time! In the course of a normal Market Time Patrol, YAK was UNREPPED on the average of once every three days by one of the sundry support ships of SERVGRU THREE. With typical Naval efficiency, very rarely did UNREP interfere with the normal working day. Within ten days of the first patrol, YAK had mastered night highline and crew members were identified in the next port by red-rimmed, bloodshot eyes and that unsteady gait that comes from handling tons of stores.

